EAST BARRE.

At 9 a. m. Thursday, a number of friends gathered at the home of A. C. Coleman to pay their last respects to the remains of his mother. Scripture was read and prayer offered by Rev. S. T. Achenbach, after which the immediate relatives followed the remains to East Orange, the old home of the deceased. The funeral service was held in the Methodist church there, conducted by Rev. Mr. Leach of Walta River, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Achenbach of East Barre. The service was a very effective one. The singers were all dear friends of the deceased and the hymns they sang were the choice of the deceased some years ago. The family of the departed one felt most grateful to the people of East Orange for their generous hospitality and most thoughtful kindness for all who went from here to the funeral. The flowers sent were as follows: Pillow, "Our Mother," children; wreath of roses, Dr. Daley of White River Junction; pink and white carnations, W. C. U.; bunch of lilies, Orin Daley of Montpelier; pink and white carnations, Mary Pratt; roses, Vernon and Roy Coleman; pink carnations, Dr. and Mrs. McArthur; pink and white carnations, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones and family; pink carnations, John and Jennie Patten; carnations and hyacinths, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emerson; geraniums and begonias, Mrs. Dr. Minard; geraniums, ferns and anemones, Mrs. Tiltonson; petunias and geraniums, Mrs. Austin Patterson; pink and white carnations, Madam Gearson, Barre. The last known writing of the one who has just gone to rest was a copy of the poem, "So Tired, Lord," and no more fitting close to thoughts of her could be found than the words of this poem:

So Tired, Lord.

So tired, Lord, but not too tired
 To place my hand in thine,
 To lay my head upon thy breast
 And know thy love is mine.
 So tired, Lord, this soothing full
 Succeeds a night of pain.
 I am too weak to pray or think
 Or rouse my throbbing brain.
 So tired, Lord, no need to speak,
 I feel that Thou art near.
 But I am so weak, so weak, dear Lord,
 Too weak to shed a tear.
 So tired, Lord—the twilight hour
 Is drawing nigh again;
 I cannot pray, but Thou canst see
 The words that haunt my brain.
 So tired, Lord—my kindest friends
 Can never, never tell
 The depth of weariness and pain
 For they art strong and well.
 So tired, Lord—Thou knowest all—
 A welcome death—oh, happy thought!
 I need not tell Thee, Thou hast seen
 The happiness it has brought.

RANGES IN DISPUTE.

Trouble Between Sheepmen of Oregon and Washington.

Salem, Ore., March 24.—According to a letter written by Gov. Chamberlain to President Roosevelt, serious trouble is brewing between the sheepmen of Oregon and Washington. The letter states that three-quarters of that part of Wenapa forest reserve located in Oregon has been allotted to Washington sheep raisers, while the Oregon men are given only one-quarter. On the other hand, no Oregon sheepmen are given any of the range in that part of the reserve located in Washington.

Governor Chamberlain says he is informed that at a meeting of the sheepmen and wool growers, held at Walla Walla December 16 last, a committee of sheepmen were allowed to allot the range, and that as Washington sheepmen predominated on the committee, they took practically everything.

The governor in his letter charges that G. M. Schmitz, chief ranger of the reserve, and Chief Forester Schiller of Washington, have all their interests in the state of Washington, and that both federal officers allowed the allotment to stand. The letter asserts that many of the Washington sheep are affected with "scab," which will be brought into Oregon, and because of the fact that the sheep will be on government ranges, the state authorities are powerless to do anything in the way of inspection. The governor asks the President that an investigation be made.

Boston, March 24.—In the superior court at East Cambridge yesterday, Lucius Rapp, alias Lambert, pleading guilty on three counts charging him with larceny and similar offenses, was sentenced by Judge Lawton to not less than three years nor more than five years at hard labor in the state prison. BODY ON TRACK.

Only Wound Was Hole in the Forehead.

Windsor, March 24.—The body of a man about 65 years old was found on the railroad track about 500 feet south of the station shortly before eight o'clock last night, by Joseph Keyser. The body was still warm when discovered, and it is supposed was struck by the evening train reaching here at 7.35. A small hole in the forehead was the only mark upon him.

 A tax receipt with the name of M. L. Fairbridge, Norwich, Vt., was found in his fur coat, and about $15 in his pockets. It is thought, however, that the coat was borrowed and the man's name is Thomas Pageau, a blacksmith of White River Junction.
 The town authorities of Windsor were notified and called Doctors Richmond and Brewster, who pronounced the man dead. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of Cabot Bros, where it awaits identification.
